Hello,

Thanks for reaching out to us.

We note that this order does not clearly identify the content that the court has found to be unlawful; it neither finds the URLs you identified in your complaint unlawful, nor does it provide a specific basis to conclude that the material on those URLs is unlawful. It is therefore unclear to us whether the terms of your order apply to these specific URLs.

If a court has issued an order regarding the content in question, please send us a copy of the order and provide the following information:

1. the URL for each web page that contains the allegedly infringing content,
2. the exact text or content from each URL that violates the order, and
3. the specific part of your court order that mandates the removal of these webpages.

Without this information, we cannot consider your request.

Regards,

The Google Team

What section of the attached court order mandates the removal of the content detailed above?

The Order dated 28.08.2024 by Special Court (Central-I), Karachi discharged the accused Tariq Iqbal Puri, with the Court finding that "all or any evidence that has been brought on record for and against the accused Tariq Iqbal Puri, if any, by the prosecution in FIR No. 74 and 75 of 2013 stands discarded."

The Court accepted the supplementary charge sheet placing the accused in Column No.2 (not sent up for trial), discharged the accused, cancelled bail bonds, and issued surety discharge. The continuing presence of outdated allegations in search results, despite judicial exoneration and discharge, causes ongoing reputational harm and misrepresents the legal outcome.
